Panel discussion

Tuesday, 25 June 2024, 13:30-15:00

Teleconference Room (1st floor)

University of Macedonia

Consent (σεξουαλική συναίνεση) and allyship are crucial for the protection of the inalienable right of human beings to their own bodies and autonomy. Understanding and practicing consent is a precondition of healthy relationships, and it is central in the prevention of sexual assault. Join us for a discussion with experts who will share their views on what consent is, why knowing about consent matters, and the important role of active allies.
